

WHITE GRAPE JUICE BIBLIOGRAPHY

Cole CR, Rising R and Lifshitz F. Consequences of incomplete carbohydrate absorption from fruit juice consumption in infants. Arch Pediatr Adolesc Med. 1999. 153(10):1098-1102.

Duro D, Rising R, Cedillo M and Lifshitz F. Association between infantile colic and carbohydrate malabsorption from fruit juices in infancy. Pediatrics. 2002. 109(5):797-805.

Hyams JS, Etienne NL, Leichtner AM and Theuer RC. Carbohydrate malabsorption following fruit juice ingestion in young children. Pediatrics. 1988. 82(1):64-68.

Lifshitz F, Ament ME, Kleinman RE, Klish W, Lebenthal E, Perman J and Udall JN Jr. Role of juice carbohydrate malabsorption in chronic nonspecific diarrhea in children. J Pediatr. 1992. 120(5):825-829.

Moukarzel AA, Lesicka H and Ament ME. Irritable bowel syndrome and nonspecific diarrhea in infancy and childhood—relationship with juice carbohydrate malabsorption. Clin Pediatr (Phila). 2002. 41(3):145-150.

Nobigrot T, Chasalow FI and Lifshitz F. Carbohydrate absorption from one serving of fruit juice in young children: age and carbohydrate composition effects. J Am Coll Nutr. 1997. 16(2):152-158.

Ribeiro H Jr, Ribeiro TC, Valois S, Mattos A and Lifshitz F. Incomplete carbohydrate absorption from fruit juice consumption after acute diarrhea. J Pediatr. 2001. 139(2):325-327.

Smith MM, Davis M, Chasalow FI and Lifshitz F. Carbohydrate Absorption From Fruit Juice in Young Children. Pediatrics. 1995. 95(3):340-344.

Valois S, Rising R, Duro D, Cole C, Cedillo M and Lifshitz F. Carbohydrate malabsorption may increase daily energy requirements in infants. Nutrition. 2003. 19(10):832-836.